

2010 TRIM NOTICE INFORMATION

Understanding Your Proposed Property Tax Notice

2010 "TRIM" NOTICE OF PROPOSED TAXES

Dear St. Lucie County Property Owner,

Enclosed is your annual TRIM (Truth In Millage) notice. You will find your 2010 proposed market and taxable values of your property as determined by the Property Appraiser's Office as well as the proposed tax (millage) rates and resulting taxes being requested by all taxing authorities whom you pay.

This office has no control over your actual property taxes or millage (tax) rates. Millage rates are established by the taxing authorities (i.e., County Commission, School Board, Cities, Special Districts, etc.) based on their budgets and spending. As an independent constitutional office, we are not controlled by any taxing authority and we work directly for you.

The TRIM period provides a 25-day window for reviewing your proposed values and tax rates and voicing any concerns you may have in regard to either. If you question the market value of your property (i.e., you do not believe the listed value, as of January 1, 2010, accurately reflects that of your property), please contact our office prior to the deadline - September 10, 2010 - in order to discuss your concerns with an appraiser. Most questions are resolved during this information exchange. An additional appeal process through the Value Adjustment Board is available to you and further information may be obtained by calling or visiting our office. Should you choose to proceed to the Value Adjustment Board, you must do so by the deadline or forfeit your appeal right for the 2010 tax year.

If you disagree with the proposed budget, spending or millage rates of the taxing authorities, you should let them know. The taxing authorities are required to hold public meetings for input on their proposed budgets. For your convenience, email addresses and phone numbers for the taxing authorities are enclosed.

Sincerely,
Your Property Appraiser's Office
